Aaron Tucker

Travels from: Florida

Fee Range: $5,001 - $7,500

Aaron Tucker is a Navy SEAL combat veteran with deployments to 7 countries. Upon leaving the SEAL Teams, Aaron turned his discipline and battlefield lessons to the world of business and has become an accomplished entrepreneur, consultant, and acclaimed speaker on topics ranging from leadership and building high-performance teams to culture and organizational transformation.

Aaron is an executive with his own progressive leadership and management consulting firm with a focus on business transformation and building high-performance cultures. With degrees in marketing and advanced degrees in business and management, Aaron's extensive experience is both academic and real-world in nature. Aaron lead research teams with world renowned behavioral and clinical psychologists to quantify and unlock the leading indicators of engagement, motivation, and GRIT. Aaron's work and experience were recognized in coordination to redesign the US Navy culture and create a shift in operational effectiveness and training.

Aaron has a passion for life and challenges himself and others by following very specific rules for success. Aaron has summited Kilimanjaro, participated in an expedition length adventure racing as a former sponsored athlete, and most recently is completing a Ph.D. in Management with work in leading developing teams.
