A Motivational Sales Speaker with over 20 years of experience...

Chip Eichelberger, CSP will be THE energy source for your event! Formerly Tony Robbins international point man, Chip is a proven pro that will do the homework necessary to customize his message with your theme and business model. He specializes in customized, high energy, engaging, humorous and interactive opening, after meal and closing presentations. Watch his demo and other videos on this page to see this quickly!

Chip is consistently told by meeting planners that most speakers were a "rental" and that he was a partner in making their event a success. We have booked him consistently with great success because he will make you and us look good for choosing him. Chip always prepares, speaking to key employees, researching your company, industry and market place so his material is relevant and reinforces your conference message.

Chip graduated from the University of Oregon and began his career as a sales rep for Jantzen Sportswear. After being let go due to a company buyout, his career took an exciting turn. He went to work with the world renowned Tony Robbins in San Diego where things really took off, winning Sales Leader of the Year twice. He hired, trained and led sales teams around the U.S. and became Robbins' international point man planting the flag for Tony in Australia and the UK.

Chip has since been selected to "Switch On" and energize over 1000 events on 3 continents in 9 countries for Hyatt, Campbell Soup Company, Smoothie King, Terminix, M & T Bank, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, Rogers Media, Invisible Fence, MedStar Health, Dun & Bradstreet, British Car Auctions, RE/MAX and over 100 diverse associations like NADA, PMI and ASSE.

The last and maybe the most important impression at your event is your closing session. There must be energy and a call to action! Many conventions fizzle out at the end; do not let that happen! Chip will tie everything together and send the audience home Switched On!

A top-ranked speaker, he is one of only 7% of the members of the National Speakers Association to earn the prestigious Certified Speaking Professional designation. Chip has created numerous audio, video and printed products. His newest book is The Smart Guide To Accomplishing Your Goals.
