Jim Whitt is an unapologetic people provoker. For more than 20 years Jim has provoked people and organizations to reach their full potential as a speaker, consultant and author.

As a speaker, he provokes people to thought and laughter (kind of a cross between Dr. Phil and Jeff Foxworthy). As a consultant, Jim provokes leaders to create cultures where people are self-motivated. As an author, Jim provokes readers with proven processes to help them improve their lives and their organizations.

Jim's people-provoking career was birthed from the discovery of his purpose in life (to help people reach their full potential) in 1988. Prior to that he spent more than a decade in sales and marketing with two Fortune 500 companies. Jim grew up working in the cattle business and has a degree in animal science.

All of this provides him with a unique perspective into human behavior which he has applied to develop his unconventional approach to transforming lives, leaders and organizations as a founding partner of Purpose Unlimited.
