Joyce has been a registered nurse for over thirty years, working in hospital and community care settings. She is a certified facilitator and coach who is passionate about training others in achieving the outcomes they want for themselves and the organization. Joyce uncovers the secrets to a more positive environment and happier teams and a more joyful you. She focuses on customer and colleague well-being, organizational culture and how to achieve an ongoing positive environment.

Joyce Hyam has also been a successful business owner for over 25 years. She started a healthcare company and, after 13 successful years, accepted an offer to sell it to a healthcare conglomerate. Throughout her career, Joyce has used the Law of Attraction model to attract more of what she wanted in her life and to create more positive experiences, better results, and greater happiness in her relationships and in her business.

As one of a select few Certified Facilitators and Trainers worldwide, Joyce is continuing to teach the "How-To" tools for creating success using Law of Attraction for both businesses and private clients. Through personal experience, she found that using the "how-to" techniques to learn how to attract more of what she wanted in her life helped her create more positive experiences, better results and greater happiness in her relationships and in her business.

What makes Joyce such an effective trainer? It's how she applies her knowledge of Law of Attraction. She uses NLP (neuro-linguistic programming) and accelerated learning techniques, which means she truly trains you on what it takes to create lasting changes. You will learn how words, feelings and results are interconnected. You will discover how to intentionally enhance positive reviews and scores. These are simple tools with a huge impact. Emotions are at the core of how people rate their experience. How we connect, communicate verbally and non-verbally, how we present ourselves, are what truly matters and influences the client and staff experience. Her desire is for organizations to continually move higher on the happiness and well being scale by the discovery and implementation of these tools.

Joyce has presented for healthcare audiences including Stanford Hospital and Clinics. She uses accelerated learning techniques so everyone will relate to the material and can begin to use it immediately. She has a BSN from the City University of New York and a Masters in Public Administration with a specialty in Health Services from the University of San Francisco. Her experience includes being on boards of national and local healthcare organizations.
