An internationally recognized professional, Matt Booth speaks on a variety of topics, and his areas of focus include attitude, communication, customer service, personal development, goal setting and leadership.

Matt's energetic approach and varied experience has brought him success with many organization and industries including: health care, real estate, non-profit, insurance, education, government and just about any association. Matt's greatest strength is his ability to bring ATTITUDE to programs. His energy transfers to his audiences and adds life and character to events and programs. His humor, quick wit and ability to connect make Matt's valuable programs successful.

Matt is the author of Be Yourself - Improve Yourself. Five years in the making, the book is derived from Matt's philosophy of life and the simple formula for personal satisfaction and professional success. Matt profoundly believes we are put on this earth to be happy and successful - to be happy, you're going to have to be yourself - to be successful, you have to be in a continuing state of self improvement. It's an attitude thing!
