Michael York wrote the book on "Becoming Uncommon!"

An author, businessman, consultant and professional speaker whose speaking style has been described as inspirational, dynamic and engaging. Michael is a "Student of Success and Life" and has been called "a unique and entertaining teacher who makes learning fun, beats boring training and teaches individuals and organizations to be more powerful than the status-quo."

As a consultant, Michael is the "Chief Learning Officer" for many different companies and organizations on thinking differently and creating radical results. As a businessman, he is the CEO of The Michael York Company, Inc. Beginning his career in selling in 1978, Michael now has over 25 years of sales, marketing and management experience.

As a professional speaker, he delivers over 70 presentations each year to groups across the country and around the world on subjects that range from personal development to powerful communication to winning in the NOW economy. He has been on speaking platforms from the MGM Grand in Las Vegas to Washington DC to Walt Disney World addressing business leaders from cruise ships in the Bahamas to downtown hotels in Nairobi, Kenya.

In 2002 he launched COOL $chool™ and The Michael York Learning Center to provide continuing improvement in sales and business training systems...live and on video...for business owners, salespeople and associations. He is a visionary leader who has proven himself to be a master of adding value to individuals and organizations and assisting them in finding new and creative ways to achieve dynamic results and more profitable solutions in life and business.
