Travels from: California

Fee Range: $15,001 - $20,000

Nathan Jamail is the author of three best-selling books, The Leadership Playbook, The Sales Leaders Playbook and The Sales Professionals Playbook as well as his newest release, Serve Up, Coach Down – although he will tell you he is not a writer, rather a business leader that writes books for business leaders.

Nathan spent the last two + decades helping and coaching leaders and organizations on how to build winning teams as well as thriving cultures in addition to helping great leaders become great coaches. Nathan's passion and enthusiasm is said to be felt in every one of his keynotes and workshops. Nathan understands the difficulties that many leaders face in balancing the job of running the business and developing employees. As a business leader in Corporate America and a small business owner for over 20 years, Nathan has a great deal of personal experience in the role of a leader and a coach which enables him to bring his successful career and hands on experience into all the work he does.

Many fortune 100 companies will tell you that Nathan Jamail's coaching principles and books have become the core of their business and leadership principles. Some of the companies Nathan has worked with are Cisco, Microsoft, Georgia Pacific, Hilton, Transperfect, Enterprise, Verizon, JQH Hotels, The U.S. Army, FedEx, Sprint and many more.

Nathan believes that having the right attitude is not just important, but it is mandatory for a person and/or a team to reach its full potential, and it is the coach's job to mandate it. As the originator of "practice in business," Nathan teaches leaders not only the importance of practice but how to implement practice in business to ensure employees become better, not just more experienced. Nathan has helped thousands of leaders increase their business and overall success by showing them how to cultivate a thriving culture, the importance of mindset and how to implement the right disciplines, activities and tools for the ultimate level of success.

Nathan's knowledge and content is as in-depth as his passion for success and he lives a purpose driven life allowing him not only to do one time keynotes and workshops with his clients but many of Nathan's clients work with him for months and years to sustain continuous coaching principals. Nathan lives in Southern California, has been married to his bride and the love of his life Shannon for over 12 years, has five children, a granddaughter and one dog. He will tell you that his family is his purpose and that he is not worthy of his success and the many blessings he has been given over his life, but he is incredibly grateful.
