Robert Ian is one of the world's leading experts at helping individuals and organizations uncover the hidden opportunities of rapid change. He is the author of How to Identify, Master and Conquer Change, and is the founder and CEO of Change Management International LLC (CMI), a U.S. based research, consulting and marketing firm that monitors business, economic and social changes to help clients better understand how rapid change can be harnessed to leverage powerful new opportunities. CMI's current focus is on the declining value of the U.S. dollar and how this global phenomenon will result in higher long-term prices for commodity-based assets like gold, silver, base metals, energy and agriculture.

Robert has interviewed over 1000 CEOs, business executives and government leaders. This research led to the publication of his first book which is being used globally by leading organizations to help their managers, executives and employees successfully conquer change. He has delivered over 2000 keynote speeches to corporations, associations and professional organizations worldwide.

Robert discusses major changes taking place in the world today. He provides strategies and conclusions to help you walk away with more perspective, more understanding, more options and more solutions for conquering change.

Robert's client list covers a wide range of industries over 20 years and includes many Fortune 500 companies such as GE, 3M, AT&T, HCA, Sysco, McKesson, Caterpillar, Hormel, Northwestern Mutual, Honeywell, Charter Communications and AFLAC. He has appeared on ABC, CBS, NBC and the FOX television networks and has been a guest on over 300 talk radio shows across America.

Robert's personal hero is the little dog Toto in The Wizard of Oz. Toto pulled back the curtain and showed everyone how the magic worked. When you hear Robert speak, he will pull back the curtain of rapid change and demonstrate how the secret to conquering change is being prepared for it.

As an entertainer, Robert will utilize several magic illusions to illustrate key points. As an educator, he will deliver solid take-home skills that will transform your ability to conquer change. As a motivator, he will show how the content of his remarks can be applied personally and professionally. His presentations never fail to challenge and entertain.
